

Aggregate Stop Loss:

Insurance protection that goes into effect when an employer who has Self Insurance has its total group health insurance claims attain a certain level. Aggregate stop loss caps the claims liability for the group and its members and transfers claims risk to an insurance company for amounts over the aggregate level.