

Specific Stop Loss:

A term used with self-insured plans describing insurance protection for individual claimants. Specific stop-loss is a form of protection that kicks in when an individual's claims reach a predefined total, i.e.: $50,000 per year. Once the specific stop loss point has been reached, the stop loss policy begins to reimburse for charges over the stop loss point.